Times Microwave Systems To Open a New Master Distribution Hub in Europe

Times Microwave Systems is inaugurating a new distribution facility in the Netherlands, the company's first in Europe. Located in Houten, the center will open Jan 15th, 2020.

The hub will supply quick delivery to local distributors and customers. A European based team will provide customer service and technical support.

"TMS has significantly grown its European presence over the past two years, and the new facility represents our continued investment in the region," said Bill Callahan, the General Manager for TMS.
